(1) Notwithstanding article 931 of the Code, a trust other than a unit trust, a constructive or a resulting trust or any trust arising by operation of law or by judicial decision—

- (a) may be created by a disposition of property inter vivos or by will, or by holding property on trust; and
- (b) shall be of no effect unless created by an instrument in writing.

(2) An instrument creating a trust shall be void unless it states—

- (a) the name of the trustee;
- (b) the intention of the settlor to create a trust, or the declaration of the trustee that he holds property on trust;
- (c) the object of the trust and the beneficiaries or class of beneficiaries, as the case may be;

- (a) the trust is incompletely constituted at the time of the declaration and no rights or duties arise under the trust instrument;
- (b) unless earlier revoked, the trust shall be deemed to come into existence at the time the settlor becomes legally entitled to the property which was the subject of the declaration.

(5) Article 931 of the Code shall not apply to any transfer of property on trust.

(6) The transfer or disposition on trust of property situated outside Mauritius, which if it had taken place in Mauritius would constitute a valid transfer or disposition of the property under this Act, shall not be declared void or invalid merely by reason that it contravenes the applicable law of the transfer or disposition, or the law of the transferor's domicile or nationality.

(7) The trustee shall not acquire a better title to the trust property than the one which the settlor or transferor had immediately before the transfer or disposition.

(8) Where property in Mauritius is transferred upon trust under the laws of Mauritius, the deed of transfer shall mention expressly the transferee in his capacity as trustee.

(2) Notwithstanding—

- (a) article 1167 of the Code, any provision of the Bankruptcy Act, or any other law of Mauritius or any rule of law of any other jurisdiction;
- (b) the fact that the trust is voluntary, and is effected without consideration, or is made on or for the benefit of the settlor, the spouse or children of the settlor, or any of them, a trust shall not be void or voidable or otherwise invalidated in the event of or by reason of the settlor's bankruptcy or liquidation of his property or in any action or proceedings against the settlor at the suit of his creditors.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (2), the Court may declare a trust void, where it is established that the trust was made with the intent to defraud persons who were creditors of the settlor at the time when the trust property was vested in the trustee.

(4) No action under subsection (3) shall lie against the trustee of a trust after more than 2 years from the date of the transfer or disposal of the assets to the trust.

(5) Notwithstanding any rule of law relating to enforcement of judgments given by the Court of another jurisdiction, where the law of Mauritius is the proper law of a trust, the Court shall not vary it or set it aside or recognise the validity of any claim against the trust property pursuant to the law of another jurisdiction or the order of a Court of another jurisdiction in respect of—

 - (ii) it is immoral;
 - (iii) its terms are so uncertain that its performance is rendered impossible; or
 - (iv) the settlor had, at the time of its creation, no legal capacity to create such a trust.

(3) Where some of the terms of a trust are invalid but others are not—

- (a) in case the terms or purposes cannot be separated, the trust shall be invalid;
- (b) in case the terms can be separated, the Court may declare that the trust is valid as to the terms which are valid.

(4) Where a trust is created for 2 or more purposes of which some are lawful and others are not—

- (a) where the purposes cannot be separated, the trust shall be invalid;
- (b) where the purposes can be separated, the Court may declare that the trust is valid with regard to the purposes which are lawful.

(5) Where a trust is partially invalid, the Court may declare what property is to be held subject to the trust and what property is not.

13. Effect of invalidity on property

Any property as to which a trust is invalid shall, subject to any order of the Court made under section 12 (6), be held by the trustees in trust for the settlor absolutely or, if he is dead, for his heirs and successors as if it had formed part of his estate at his death.

Where a person does not comply with an order of the Court or the Judge in Chambers under this Act requiring him to do any thing, the Court may, without prejudice to any action for contempt of Court, order on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit, that the thing be done by another person, nominated for the purpose by the Court or the Judge, at the expense of the person in default (or otherwise, as the Court directs), and a thing so done shall have effect in all respects as if done by the person in default.

65. Payment of costs

The Court may order the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, an application to the Court under this Act to be paid from the trust property or in such other manner and by such persons as it thinks fit.

66. Variation of trust

- (a) a minor or a person under legal disability having, directly or indirectly, an interest, vested or contingent, under a trust;
 - (b) any person unborn;
 - (c) any person, ascertained or not, who may become entitled, directly or indirectly, to an interest under a trust, as being (at a future date or on the happening of a future event) a person of any specified description or a member of any specified class; or
 - (d) any person, in respect of an interest that may accrue to him by virtue of the exercise of a discretionary power on the failure or determination of an existing interest, may, subject to subsection (2), approve any arrangement which varies or revokes the terms of a trust or enlarges or modifies the powers of management or administration of any trustees, whether or not there is another person with a beneficial interest who is capable of assenting to the arrangement.

(2) The Court shall not approve an arrangement on behalf of a person mentioned in subsection (1) (a), (b) or (c) unless the arrangement appears to be for his benefit.

67. Approval of transactions

Where, in the management or administration of a trust, a transaction is, in the opinion of the Court, expedient, but cannot be effected because the necessary power is not vested in the trustees by the terms of the trust or by law, the Court may, on the application of any person having an interest in the trust—

- (a) confer upon the trustees, generally or in any particular circumstances, the necessary power, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit; and

- (b) direct the manner in which, and the property from which, any monies authorised to be expended, and the costs of any transaction, are to be paid or borne.
